

ABSTRACT

A rotary knob is for operating a motor vehicle by rotation of the rotary knob, the rotary knob having an at least partially transparent display layer which rotates along in response to 5 an angular movement of the rotary knob, and a controllable light source for displaying changeable information on the display layer.